

Frequently Asked Questions

Who is Fleet Cost & Care?

Founded in 1993, Fleet Cost & Care (FCC) is a fleet management software company and technology partner serving the heavy equipment industry around the globe.

Why invest in fleet management software?

FCC's software enables companies to improve internal operations by providing a centralized system that accelerates dispatching and invoicing, streamlines payroll, and ensures safety and risk mitigation best practices.

What industries do you serve?

Fleet Cost & Care software serves customers in the crane & rigging, earth-moving, environmental clean-up, concrete pumping, and heavy transportation industries.

What is NexGen?

NexGen fleet management software is our desktop application that helps heavy equipment rental companies simplify and systemize day-to-day operations. From quote to cash, the Fleet Cost & Care system eliminates standalone systems, standardizes processes, and generates greater profits.

What is Atom?

Accelerate growth and empower your organization with Atom, the only mobile app designed to fully support field operations, sales, maintenance, and dispatching. Focused on data accuracy and accessibility, Atom provides comprehensive details about all aspects of your business to unleash the full potential of your fleet.

What is the NexGen system installed on?

NexGen is installed on either an in-house (customer owned) server or with a cloud hosting service. We have partnered with cloud service providers and can offer an entirely hosted solution, or customers can choose their own cloud service provider.

Do you integrate with third-party software programs?

Fleet Cost & Care integrates with leading accounting, payroll, GPS, ELD, CRM, and fuel tracking systems to centralize your data.

Does FCC provide training and support?

Fleet Cost & Care has world-class Training and Support Teams through our network of Customer Success Managers, Client Services Specialists, and fleet management experts.
